

INTERNATIONAL PRELIMINARY
EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

International application No. PCT/US00/27340

Re Item III

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability

Claims, or part of claims, relating to inventions in respect of which no international search report has been established need not be the subject of an international preliminary examination (Rule 66.1(e) PCT). The EPO policy when acting as an International Preliminary Examination Authority is normally not to carry out a preliminary examination on matter which has not been searched. This is the case irrespective of whether or not the claims are amended following receipt of the search report or during any Chapter II procedure.

Consequently, the subject-matter of claims 5 (only partly searched) and 6-11 (not searched, see international search report) is not examined by the International Preliminary Examination Authority.

Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Novelty (Article 33(2) PCT)

The present application does not meet the criterion set forth in Article 33(2) PCT because the subject-matter of claims 1, 2, 4, 12, 14-17 and 19-22 is not new in respect of the prior art as defined in the regulations (Rule 64(1)-(3) PCT).

The following documents disclose already foam components coming within the scope of present claims 1, 2, 4, 12, 14-17 and 19-22:

- a) JP 48 001500 (D1, abstract) depicts a composition comprising a mixture of polystyrene resin and polyvinyl alcohol resin which are kneaded together with a plasticizer, a stabilizer and a foaming agent. The foamed article can be shaped into filaments, pellets or sheets which are dispersible in water. An active ingredient (e.g. insecticides, fungicides, herbicides, deodorants, etc.) is adsorbed thereon.

---

International application No. PCT/US00/27340

- b) US-A-5 458 884 (D2, claim 1, example 1) describes a bio-erodible device for administering of active ingredients comprising a water soluble, muco-adherent, lyophilised foam and an active ingredient. The device is obtained by a foaming cellulose polymer in presence of an active ingredient (example 1).

2. Inventive Step (Article 33(3) PCT)

The problem to be solved by the present invention may be regarded as to provide an alternative method of protecting and delivering sensible active ingredients in aqueous conditions (page 2, lines 1-2).

Document D1, which is considered to represent the most relevant state of the art, uses the same solution for the underlying problem, in particular active ingredients are protected from ingredients which may react with said active ingredients by incorporating said active ingredients into a foamed particle.

Therefore the principle of the present "invention" is already known from D1 (and also from D2). Moreover, the application is devoid of any examples or indications that specific combinations of features, particularly those mentioned in the claims, provide any unexpected advantage or surprising effect.

Therefore claims 2-4, 12-22 do not appear to contain any additional features which, in combination with the features of any claim to which they refer, meet the requirements of the PCT with respect to inventive step. The described features come within the scope of the customary practice followed by the man skilled in the art, especially as the advantages thus achieved can be readily contemplated in advance.

---

International application No. PCT/US00/27332

The document (D1) which is considered to represent the closest prior art is JP-B-48001500.

D1 discloses a foam component produced from polystyrene resin, polyvinylalcohol resin, a plasticizer, a foaming agent, and a solvent.

The remaining feature of claim 1, that the foam is stable in air but unstable in water, is not explicitly disclosed in D1. However, this feature attempts to define the invention by the result to be achieved. Unless the Applicant can demonstrate that this feature is not present in the prior art compositions disclosed in D1, which otherwise fulfil the structural requirements of claim 1, it will not serve to establish novelty.

Thus, the subject-matter of claim 1 is not novel.

The question of inventive step will only arise if the applicant is able to provide novel claims.

TITLE : FOAMED PULP SHEET AND ITS PRODUCTION

ABSTRACT : PURPOSE: To provide a sheet which has cushioning properties and can be easily incinerated and used for landfill after use.

CONSTITUTION: A foamed pulp sheet is produced either by mixing pulp contg. a reclaimed pulp, a biodegradable thickener, a thermally decomposable blowing agent, and water, forming the resulting mixture into a sheet, heating the sheet to give a foamed sheet, and drying it, or by vigorously agitating pulp contg. a reclaimed pulp, water, and a surfactant to give a frothed mixture, molding the foam into a sheet, and drying it.
